

Painting
Portraits for Coram

Cycle to MIPIM 2016

I'm cycling to MIPIM this year, raising funds for children's charity Coram. To do this I'm painting portraits of some people I've enjoyed working with over the years. I'd like to paint yours.

coram | better chances for children
since 1739

You'll get:

- an oil portrait on canvas, 90cm x 90cm.
- invites for you and 5 others to two HTA events, one in London and one in Cannes, where your portrait will be displayed. All the sitters will be figures in the housing and regeneration sector, so it's networking really.
- the benefits of donating to a charity that helps over a million vulnerable children and young people every year.

I've done two already, of Dave Bullock, MD of Compendium and HTA's own Ben Derbyshire.

They will all be monochrome, and a little larger than life size.

I want to do three more.

The bottom line.

They cost
one thousand pounds
each which is simultaneously
a lot of money and not a lot of money, for an oil portrait.

If you don't like it, you don't need to pay for it.

If you might like one, or have any questions, then please get in touch.

Thanks,

Sandy